

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

I was born in a downtown building

All the people knew I came

They said "Awe what a pretty baby she is

I hope she brings you pride and joy"

I grew up by the lakes in town

And the parks along the way

I remember tearing up the town

And giving everybody some crazy pain

Chorus:

Well, who am I? (Who am I? Who, who, who, who?)

Don't you wanna know (Who am I? Who, who, who, who?)

Tellin you, who I am? (Who I am? Who, who, who, who?)

'Cause you really wanna know (Who am I? Who, who, who, who?)

I drove my car right out of town

Down to USF to stay

I felt like a free bird that sings

With nothing in the world to lose

I got up and I looked around

I looked back on my busy day

Many hours in the Classrooms

God, there's got to be another way

Who am I?

Ooh wa ooh wa ooh wa ooh wa ...

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

Who am I?

Who, who, who, who?

(chorus)

I know there's a place in town

Where love falls to your feet

My life is like a broken record

I only felt right playing easy street

I skip around from place to place

Knowing everybody is a game

Measuring up to everyone some how

Is not the game I play!
